Liaison:

The vital link between your online data backups and your enterprise.

The Liaison software will operate on most major operating system platforms:

- Microsoft Windows: 2000/03 server, XP, Vista and 9x
- Linux/Unix distributions including FreeBSD and Solaris
- Novell
- Mac server and workstation O/S X

An Enterprise Solution

The Liaison system is an enterprise wide data backup solution perfect for storage, data archiving and disaster recovery for multiple systems across multiple sites.

The Liaison server is installed in your local area network and is available as a stand-alone server or can be configured to store locally to a SAN or NAS device. From there it can accept data from any source: remote locations via VPN connection or over the Internet. All of the traffic to the Liaison server is transmitted using SSL security.

Liaison client software is installed on each source computer. The software encrypts and compresses the data at the source prior to transmission to the Liaison server. Liaison stores and updates the data to maintain current copies, plus archival versions, of all your vital electronic records. The number of versions kept is completely configurable. Data retrieval is done from either the client program on the source computer or directly from the web console on the Liaison server itself.

The Liaison system is completely automatic greatly decreasing the time needed to backup and restore the files you have selected to keep. Selected data is collected from individual client machines and automatically forwarded to the Liaison device on schedule. Liaison stores the data locally for quick retrieval, and forwards a copy of the data to our secure, remote bunker in Pulaski, Tennessee for safekeeping.

Give us a call today and see how the cost-effective Liaison can save you valuable time and resources when you need data back in a hurry.
